Grand Master's Letter: Transitions, Traditions

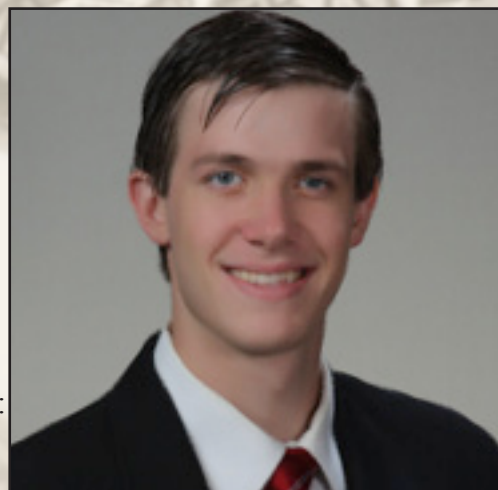

Brothers:

Greetings from the Alpha-Pi chapter at Wabash College! I hope to one day be in your position, an alumnus reading the newsletter; enjoying fond recollections of the time spent at this beloved college and chapter.

There are a great many things that unite us as a brotherhood, and have done so for many years: shared experiences and the appreciation of our fellow brethren here at Wabash. Although many of our commonalities remain the same, there are some that have changed. The spring of 2008 was the last semester that Kappa Sigs occupied the old house, and when we left, we left some things behind: old memories, a familiar albeit convoluted floor plan, and sadly, the freedom to hang things on our walls.

Along with our loss, however, came new opportunities. Last semester we moved into the new Kappa Sigma house and had great success with the Dedication Ceremony. Along with this move came the enormous benefit of brand-new facilities. We are dedicated to maintaining the good condition of this new place so that future generations are able to enjoy it as much as we have.

When I returned to school for my sophomore year, I experienced a pang of loss at the absence of those brothers who had graduated. Once again this semester, I am faced with the soon-to-be-departing seniors, and I realize that I must repeat this experience many times. Counter to this sadness, however, was the warm feeling of the new brothers in the house. Times may change, but traditions, and especially our camaraderie and brotherhood, live on.

Our alumni relations committee is becoming progressively more dedicated, and we extend to you an invitation to join us at many alumni events this year.

I'd like to express our gratitude for the support that so many of you have shown and continue to show; we greatly appreciate it. We continue to face challenges concerning the college and brotherhood, but with your support, we will continue to grow as a chapter and as men. Thank you.

AEKΔB,
Craig O'Connor
Grand Master

P.S. Please take a moment to complete the survey within the newsletter.

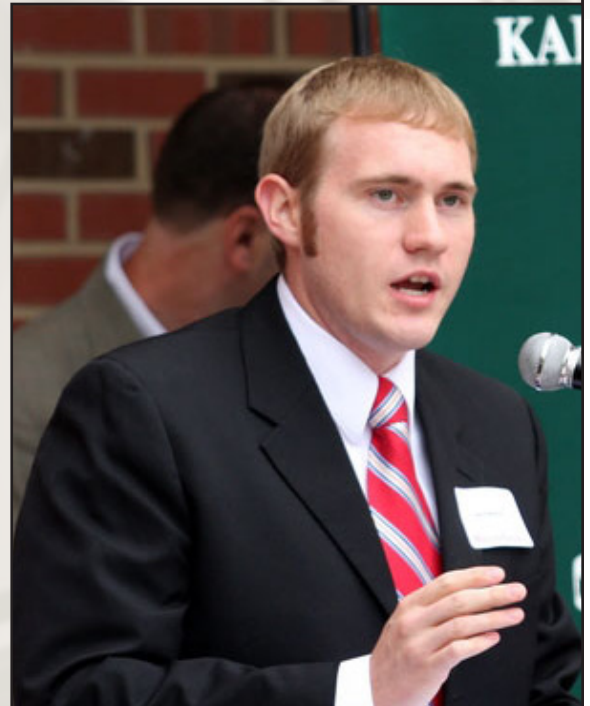

House on Track to Complete Trusteeship

After stepping down as Grand Master at the end of the Fall 2009 semester, Brother Aaron Bonar agreed to take the position of "Trusteeship Coordinator," overseeing the trusteeship process. The program aims to reform the house along national guidelines. After only one semester, he is pleased the house has made great strides to complete the program.

Bonar, in an interview, stated, "In October, we completed the first milestone of the program: the STD/Rape Workshop. Planned Parenthood came out to the house to give the presentation. In the last few weeks, we've passed new executive and house rules and policies and a new set of bylaws and a renewed risk management plan. On February 7, Kappa Sigma, TKE, and Theta Delta Chi joined together to present our respective alcohol and pledgeship policies to the campus, another important task for the trusteeship program. The Pledgeship Committee and the Alumni Relations Committee both are working on ways to improve how the house deals with incoming brothers and those who have left the chapter house. Overall, the house is on the right track toward completion of the program by the end of the semester."

If any alumni wish to get involved with the process, they may contact Steve Golliher (Alumni Advisor) at gollihers@yahoo.com or Brother Bonar at bonara@wabash.edu. Though Trusteeship is well on its way to be completed, the Brothers of the house still have many things to do and would like to get alumni involved in completing this process of reform.

Not a Typical Spring Break - New Orleans

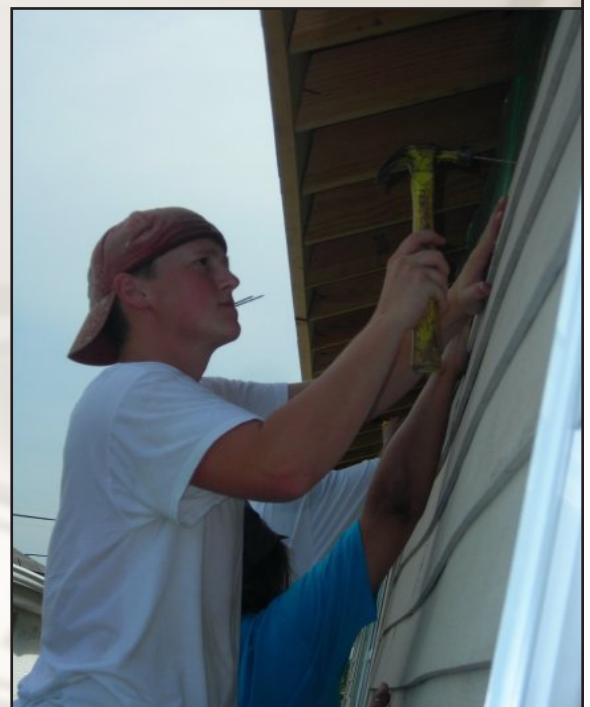

While most college students go home for their Spring Break and visit friends, four Brothers plan to do something a little different this year. Garrett Wilson, Paul Hudak, Cory Tiedeman and Cody Schroeder will assist Hurricane Katrina victims. They will travel with Professor Baer and other Wabash students on the annual trip down to New Orleans. They will make the sixteen hour trek to New Orleans and will be staying at the Westside Mission Disciples Disaster Relief for about a week.

Their time is not the only contribution they are more than ready to give. The cost for each person to go on this community service event is two hundred and fifty dollars. They have pledged to raise the money before March 1 and send the funds to Professor Baer. This will help pay for gas, food and building supplies for Westside Mission to build these houses. "Seems like a mighty cost for a vacation, but it seems like more than that," Garrett Wilson said. "It's a chance for us to give back what we were given."

This will be a return trip for junior Brothers Cory Tiedeman and Cody Schroeder. Schroeder will be returning to "the place he calls his second home" where he spent eight weeks during his last summer vacation.

The Brothers of Alpha-Pi are not letting these men raise the money all on their own. Brothers plan on donating $25 each for what will be an experience of a lifetime. If any alumni would like to donate to this great charity event contact Alumni Relations Chair Zachary K. Thompson at 317.363.7080 or zkthops@wabash.edu.

Tired Arm, Restless Soul

Brother Aaron Zinnerman, #5, is part of a history-making basketball team this year. The Wabash College Basketball team locked up the number 2 seed this year in the NCAC Conference. Their record for the season was 13-5 in conference play. The team lost in the NCAC Playoff Semi-Finals against Wittenberg, 60-61.

This is Zinnerman's second year on the varsity squad. His most outstanding performance this year took place against Wittenberg on February 17 where he played twenty-seven minutes, had 11 points and went 3 for 3 from beyond the arc. His performance helped push Wabash over the top against Wittenberg, 72-69.

This year Aaron scored his most points against rival DePauw, where he had 12 points in the 72-50 victory. His stats for this year consist of an average of 14.2 MPG, 3.7 PPG, 48.4 percent from the field, and 29.4 percent from behind the arc.

Aaron dislocated his right shoulder about four times this year, an injury he obtained many years ago. However, that has not stopped him this year. After the season, he will be debating if he should have surgery on his shoulder.

A Young Team, A New Duo

This year's Wabash tennis team will feature two Brothers: returning letterman sophomore Peter Gunderman and freshman newcomer Ian Leonard. Gunderman played the majority of last year at #2 doubles. However he is playing at #1 doubles this year with Leonard. They have played as a duo at the ITA Tournament in St. Louis, Missouri and at Wabash vs. Oberlin.

Although the duo faced a highly respected University of Chicago doubles team in their second match of the tournament and were eliminated from further play, they believe the experience was very helpful in getting prepared for the season. "I thought it was a great way for us to see how we stacked up against some of the better teams in the Midwest," said Gunderman.

The Brothers must step up their play in a relatively young lineup as starters compared to last year. Although there is not a definite #1 singles player like last season, Ian feels confident that it will only help the team get better. "We're a deep team this year, so a lot of players will be jockeying for spots. It just depends on who is willing to step up to the challenge," said Leonard. He played varsity tennis all four years in high school and made it to semi-state his senior year in doubles.

Last year Gunderman finished 14-14 in singles action as a freshman playing #4 singles. At #2 doubles, he went 9-13 and is looking to improve that record in his second year on the team.

Despite starting off 0-2 this season with close losses to Augustana and UW-La Crosse, the doubles duo came close to helping Wabash knock off Augustana before losing to their #1 doubles team 8-6. This early in the season, the Brothers and duo partners are just looking forward to a very successful season this year.

A First Spring Success for Rush

For the first time in several years the Alpha-Pi house successfully conducted a Spring Rush. Brother Raynor Mendoza, the Rush Committee Chair, stated, "We had several events which had very good turnouts; which was a surprise because, here, at Wabash most people choose not to rush after the initial Rush Week during the fall."

The Rush Committee went door-to-door in independent living units, handing out flyers and inviting people to come see the house and meet the Brothers. GMC Tariq Kanan sent out several campus wide e-mails, announcing the Kappa Sigma Spring Rush, and the events corresponding with it.

Events were created to raise

2010 Spring Pledge Class

During Rush this semester, we had three men accept their bids, and we are now happy to say that they have been pledged in and are on their way to becoming Brothers of Kappa Sigma. These three are a great group of men who are worthy of being introduced to the Star and Crescent.

Andrew James Weyler is the son of Scott and Karen Weyler. His father was a Kappa Sigma at the Kappa-Beta chapter at Indiana State University. He is a member of the Wabash College Football team and had played many games as Center. Andrew is also an active member of the German Club. He joined the Fraternity as a Pledge for want of brotherhood and friendships awareness about the brotherhood of the fraternity. These events included a wing night, grilling out, as well as several lunches and dinners with those interested in becoming Brothers of the House. Devan Taylor, Co-Rush Chair, said, "We really wanted to try new things so that we could obtain pledges for this Spring semester. I am really glad on how everything turned out."

The House gave out several bids to men whom we felt would be a good fit to the House; in the end there were three accepts. The Rush Committee included Brothers Mendoza and Taylor, as well as Arjun Kumar, Tariq Kanan, and Zachary Thompson.

Joseph Peter Reese Jr., son of Joseph and Kristy Reese, is a member of the Wabash College Swim and Track teams, Wabash Christian Men, Alpha-Pi Omega service fraternity, and currently is the Community Service Chairman of the Student Senate. Joseph joined the fraternity as a Pledge for fellowship.

Ziyun Chen, the son of Qingsheng and Guifeng Chen, is a student here from Nanjing China. He is a member of the Glee Club, and the International Students' Association. His reason for joining Kappa Sigma was for a Brotherhood experience that he would not find anywhere else.

Terra Nova Spectacular

Wabash put on a production of Ted Tally's Terra Nova. The story follows Captain Robert Falcon Scott's failed expedition to the South Pole from 1911 until 1912.

Glancing at the cast and crew list, one would think this was a Kappa Sigma production exclusively: Brother Clay Zook '10 stars as a key character, Brother Cody Grady '10 was Technical Director, Brother Jordan Plohr '12 was Stage Manager, Brother Raynor Mendoza '13 was the Assistant Stage Manager, Brother Zachary K. Thompson '13 was Head of Wardrobe, Brothers Jake Nettnay, '12 and Michael Richmond '11 volunteered to help in other technical roles.

This was the twelfth show for senior Clay Zook. He portrays Lt. Henry "Birdie" Bowers, one of the five explorers who went to the pole. Asked what specific challenges he has faced, Zook said, "I think one of the big challenges with the character of Bowers is that he was a real person. When I think of this, I want to try to portray the man like he was in real life. Due to this, I have tried to understand his background a little bit better. For instance, I have been dabbling with a Scottish accent because he was from Greenock Scotland (which has not been the easiest thing for me)." Bowers, he says, was "a hardworking and optimistic individual that genuinely cared for his fellow man."

Brother Zook also noted that playing Bowers had been fun, mainly because he was constantly trying to do justice to the real-life Bowers.

Something else he related on the "need for camaraderie", "There is a closeness amongst these men due to the amount of time they have spent together getting to the South Pole."

This was Brother Jordan Plohr's first time Stage Managing in College. He previously acted in "The Importance of Being Earnest" and has worked in the scene shop for the past year.

Both of these experiences, he says, have helped him "get acclimated to this new task." Explaining his duties, Brother Plohr begins, "My job is one of the most important in the production." He continues, "I will be calling cues for the show," and "am basically a liaison between all of the designers, directors, and actors. It tends to be a bit busy," he says. "Also, I manage props and basic maintenance of the set during the running of the show and throughout the rehearsal process."

The show ran February 24th through the 27th.

GPA Not So Hot

The House GPA in the Fall was not as spectacular as Terra Nova. The freshman class took one too many lab and economic courses to start off their careers at Wabash. Perhaps this workload caused the freshman GPA to stand at 2.78. The GPA allowed other fraternity freshmen to place better in the freshman GPA ranking as Kappa Sigma occupied the sixth spot out of the nine fraternities existing at Wabash College. The average for all fraternity freshman was 2.88.

The Alpha-Pi as a whole also did not fare well this past semester with an average GPA of 2.92, placing it second to last out of all the fraternities.

In order to get out of Trusteeship, the chapter must obtain a GPA that is higher than the all-mens's average GPA. During fall semester, the Kappa Sigma House GPA was lower than the average GPA of all fraternities and all-male GPA, which were 3.02 and 3.03 prospectively.

Alpha-Pi Alumnus Interview

The Alumni Relations Committee is starting the first of a series of alumni interviews so the Brothers of the House and the alumni reading this newsletter will get better acquainted with each other. This is a wonderful opportunity to acquire lost histories and rekindle great memories. Our first interviewee was with Brother and Alumnus Advisor Stephen Lewis Golliher '67.

Alumni Committee: What are you doing now, Steve?

Steve: I am retired but very busy. My wife and I own a historic home located on Wabash Avenue that we operate as a bed and breakfast. Many Wabash alumni, parents, and people that conduct business with the college stay with us. I am President of the Crawfordsville Redevelopment Commission. We are working hard to attract businesses to locate in the Crawfordsville Commerce Park. I am also a board member and Vice President of the RCA-GE-Thomson Consumer Electronics Alumni Association located in Indianapolis. We meet for quarterly luncheons and get together for various field trips/tours. I will be President of the alumni group next year.

AC: Wow. You are very busy. What did you use to do for the house?

Steve: I was GMC my Senior Year and was very active in fundraising for the house expansion dedicated in 1968 or 1969. Now I am the Alumnus Advisor.

AC: What memories do you have about the house?

Steve: Some of my best memories include the close friendships I've developed. I still maintain close relationships with several brothers and we have been life-long friends. Our bond was developed through the hardship we had to endure as pledges. And everybody survived.

One thing I remember, my senior year, was the attempt to steal the Fiji's front door. This was not a good idea! I did not participate because I knew better. And they did it in broad daylight. And a few Fijis in the house apparently noticed and it turned into a brawl. However, my brothers were successful in getting the door off one of its hinges. But, alas, they were overpowered by a larger number of Fijis.

I also remember the annual winter snowball and spring water fights with the Phi Delts. These events were so expensive we decided to make window replacements a line item in the budget every year. I always liked the water fight but it went too far one year when a Phi Delt decided to enter the Kappa Sig Annex, a house next door to the Kappa Sigma house, and dump a bucket of water on the top of my desk and my books and papers were destroyed.

AC: What do you prefer, since you have been in the new house a few times now, the New or Old House?

Steve: That is easy. The New House. The new house has a lot more space and accommodations. The old place was pretty basic. But it was ok. We had a lot of fun. Back then, we did not have many problems with guys trashing the house. There were only a few guys that did not take care of their rooms.

AC: What memories do you have concerning alumni back in your day?

Steve: Dr. Marion Kirtley was always a regular at the house. He was a wonderful man and offered good advice to many of the brothers when they were at Wabash.

AC: Was there anything missing in the old house?

Steve: We did not have our own laundry like you have in the new house. We had to go to the local laundromat. Back in the day, nobody really took things from people's rooms and there were not many locks. What would you steal. Most of us only had clothes and sheets of paper.

AC: Thank you so much Steve.

IF YOU WANT TO GET INTERVIEWED, PLEASE CONTACT ALUMNI RELATIONS CHAIR ZACHARY K. THOMPSON AT KAPPASIGRSVP@GMAIL.COM FOR MORE INFORMATION.
